
Grace Sammon is an author, radio host, entrepreneur, and educator. Recognized in “Who’s Who in Education” and “Who’s Who in Literature,” Grace utilized skills built up over decades to re-invent herself with her award-winning fourth book and debut novel - The Eves. She is the author of seven books, including a three-book series LAUNCH PAD The Countdown to Writing, Publishing, and Marketing your book; and, the host of two multi-award-winning radio shows, The Storytellers and LAUNCH PAD. Always committed to creative collaborations, Grace is the founder of Author Talk Network; a member of the Women’s Fiction Writers’ Association (WFWA) and the Women’s National Book Association (WNBA). She is the Director of Membership and Engagement for one of the fastest-growing reader/writer online communities “Bookish Road Trip.” Her current efforts are focused on launching 100 Authors Who Care, an international collaborative of authors committed to literacy and to sketching out her next novel. Grace currently lives on Florida’s west coast with her husband and a small herd of imaginary llamas. Find out more about Grace and her work at www.GraceSammon.Net
